SCHOOL REPORT

Report of High School Principal

Winterport, Feb. 13, 1924

To the Officers and Citizens of the Town of Winterport, the following report of the high school for the year 1923-24 is respectfully submitted.

A total of 78 students has been registered this year of which 68 are now attending and are classified as follows:—

	Boys	Girls	Totals
Senior	4	6	10
Junior	5	8	13
Sophomore	9	6	15
Freshman	16	14	30
	34	34	68

Of the 10 students who have left school, 3 were registered as sophomores and 7 as freshmen. Of the latter number 5 left after the first two weeks. A classification of the reasons for leaving school shows the following:—

Moved away from town.....	3
Discouragement and failure.....	2
Illness. ....	1
Miscellaneous .....	4

Total 10

The course of study offered is along the same lines as in previous years, being as full as possibly can be handled by two teachers and based upon the entrance requirements of the Maine colleges and the requirements of the state board of education.

Statistics compiled by a representative of one of the leading book companies, show that Winterport sends more students to college than any other town of its size in the state.

This is commendable, but we must bear in mind the fact that only a small per cent of high school students enter college. The remaining majority acquire a good general knowledge of the classics and mathematics, but under present conditions receive little special training for any particular life work.

Some schools such as East Corinth Academy are meeting this lack with a curriculum containing courses in Agriculture, Domestic Science and Normal Training, as well as the regular classical school course. Such a curriculum of course demands a greater expenditure for equipment and teachers, but it is the end to which our high schools must aim if we are to keep the boys and girls in school and give them the best preparation possible for citizenship.

There is a very fine spirit of loyalty and cooperation manifest in the student body, diligent application to studies and cheerful observation of the requirements of the school. I take this opportunity to congratulate the parents of the students and the community as a whole, upon their young people and assure them that these young people are worthy of everything that is being done in their behalf.

There is, of course, a realization on the part of all parents and citizens that some plans must be made in the immediate future for more suitable school accommodations. Those which we have, have served their purpose nobly in past years, but have out-lived their usefulness. Extensive repairs and new equipment would be essential to the highest efficiency of the school. This improvement of the existing building would hardly be good policy. We have come to the point where I believe that the present building and its equipment is actually a menace to the health of its students, especially during the winter months.

I realize this is a bold statement, but I feel that many of the parents whose children are attending the school will bear me out. This is not intended as criticism of the efforts of the community toward educating its young people, for I realize that a great effort is made every year to provide suitable funds for school purposes and that this money is shrewdly and carefully expended by the school officials to secure the maximum results from every dollar of school money. We must do more however, if we are to give our young people the clean, comfortable, healthy surroundings conducive to the best mental and physical development. I realize that it will mean sacrifice but every parent knows what it is to sacrifice for his children and the community owes much of its future welfare to the health and education of its young people.

In order to continue our school in the A class of high schools the State Board of Education has made clear the necessity of another teacher. This is due to the increase in number of students during the past few years and the failure of the present schedule to meet the state requirements as to length and number of periods per day. This contingency is being planned for by the school officials.

In closing I wish to thank the Superintendent of Schools, the school committee and all other, parents and citizens, who have contributed to the success of the school.

H. P. Andrews, Principal.

Report of Superintendent of Schools

---

To the Superintending School Committee and citizens of Winterport, I take pleasure in making this report of your schools and their condition:

GENERAL CONDITIONS OF THE SCHOOLS.

The schools of the town have had most favorable conditions since September. The traveling has been good and there has been comparatively little sickness, so the attendance has been better than the average year. Along with these favorable conditions, the pupils in all the schools have given evidence of much interest in their work.

Before school opened, the committee voted to adopt the State Course of Study for elementary schools. The State Course is a plan which embraces in eight grades, all the work to be covered in the elementary schools. There are several advantages of this plan some of which are:—

The State Course is used in the majority of the unions of the state and in case a family moves from one union to another the pupils find their work uninterrupted by the change; it also serves as a guide to the inexperienced teacher and enables her to cover the necessary work for her grade; it is a means of efficient service on the part of the Superintendent, as it is possible for him to know just where each grade should be working at a certain time of the year and what work has been covered up to that time. At the completion of the eighth grade the pupil is promoted to secondary school unless otherwise directed by the Superintendent; and by an equal division of work thru all the grades the eighth grade system enables the pupil to enter high school a year sooner, thus saving one year, which is very important. Then because each year's work must be covered in order, there is no skipping grades and if the pupil enters school at five or six years he will be thirteen or fourteen when he begins high school, which is the ideal age.

REPAIRS.

It will be necessary to continue our repair program as we still have the Fisher school to remodel in order to comply with state requirements. Then the Ellingwood's corner school house is in need of attention as the underpinning has been worked out of place by the frost. There are minor repairs that will have to be made on the other buildings in town.

TEACHERS.

The condition of the high school will effect the village schools to some extent. From the number of pupils attending the high school, it is obvious that we will have to make some changes. The State Department is allowing us to finish the year, without a change on condition that we provide a third teacher to begin in September 1924. This extra teacher will enable us to offer more subjects, lengthen our recitation periods to forty minutes, as the state law requires, and enables each teacher to have not more than seven recitation periods daily, thus giving at least one period daily per teacher for a helping period. At present each is busy with recitations the full eight periods, another condition contrary to the state law.

ENLARGING HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

Providing means to hire a third teacher is not the only difficulty. We must have another recitation room and as there is the primary room down stairs we can use that, but we must provide a place for that school and there seems to be no suitable quarters. Even with the primary room as a recitation room we haven't what we should have for a school building.

Under the present conditions the high school laboratory is no where near what it should be. The room is too small for the classes to work. There is no room for a chemistry table the size necessary to carry on individual experiments, which is the only way for pupils to learn to handle chemicals and apparatus and get the full benefit of instructions.

Winterport is sorely in need of a new school building as all the departments are overcrowded and conditions are such that the physical as well as the intellectual effects are far from good.

It becomes the duty of every town to give its boys and girls all the advantages possible in order to promote the future welfare of the community. Winterport's duty does not end there, because Winterport High School draws its pupils from many of the surrounding towns and the effects of a better school will be widely felt.

CONVEYANCE.

The conveyance problem is another thing that has a great effect on our schools. We need trained teachers but our funds provide for such a low salary schedule that only untrained and inexperienced teachers can be hired in the main. Under the present conditions we are providing five conveyances in town and the amount of money these cost the school department represents one-fourth of the total resources available for common schools.

Now it is necessary for some pupils to be conveyed and we all favor it but we must bear in mind that every dollar expended in that way unnecessarily, cuts our teachers' salaries and thus lowers the standard of our instruction.

TEXT BOOKS.

New text books in English, Arithmetic, and Geography have been provided in all the elementary schools. These texts are up-to-date and teachable. By their use great improvement has been brought about in the classes in which these subjects are taught.

FINANCIAL CONDITION

When I took up the work here late in the summer I was assured by the retiring Superintendent that all bills contracted up to that time had been paid. This appeared to be the case as there were no unpaid bills on file and the books were posted up to August 1st. As it turned out later very few bills had been paid and I have been obliged to draw orders for many large sums to pay bills, that were contracted before I came into office and of which no record was given to me, but I think I have most of the old bills, as well as the new, settled now and hope to begin the next year with a clean slate.

I wish to thank the citizens and town officers for their cooperation with me in making the work of the schools profitable.

Respectfully Submitted,

Clarence W. Dickey,

Superintendent of Schools.
